

Officials Seek Legal Out To Halt U.C.C. Hughes And Essex County Democrats Victorious Freeholder Matthews In Line For Directorship

Matthew's Win May Lead To Directorship

Newark — Governor Richard J. Hughes won a landslide victory in the state Tuesday, sweeping Essex County Democrat candidates into office including Charles A. Matthews Deputy Director of the Essex County Board of Freeholders who is slated to be named Director of the Board by his colleagues.

Dr. Hutchins Inge was also victorious in his first bid for office as the first Negro Senator from Essex County and no doubt the state. The other Negro to win election on his first time out was young attorney Ronald Owens. Mrs. Madeline Williams was also reelected to her post of Essex County Recorder of deeds.

Freeholder Matthews reelection may become historic if he is chosen Director of the Essex County Board of Freeholders, first in the history of the state and the nation.

African Nationalist Demands Native Rule

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (Africa) — Rev. N. Sithole, African Nationalist leader under restriction by the (white) Rhodesian government, expressed "deep disappointment" that Prime Minister Wilson had been unable to provide immediate majority rule.

Britain and Rhodesia ended a week of critical talks here in the African Commonwealth member where it was agreed that a Royal Commission be created to study the self-governing colony's demands for independence.

British Prime Minister Wilson in a final news conference said there was now no excuse for unilateral independence, that "the door is open for agreement." Mr. Smith, the white Prime Minister of Rhodesia, called the commission agreement "the end of the road for Rhodesia," saying if it failed the colony would carry out "the inevitable step" — unilateral independence.

In his news conference Mr. Wilson, who opposes independence for Rhodesia until the white minority which rules the colony provides guarantees of equality for the black African majority, had warnings for both African nationalists and white Rhodesians.

In his press conference in Salisbury, Mr. Wilson said he told African nationalists as well as whites that his Labor government—like all previous British governments—is irrevocably committed to eventual rule by Rhodesia's 4 million black Africans over its 220,000 whites. But he

Rights Workers Seek Federal Law Protection

ATLANTA — Throughout the South it is being debated the question of "new Federal legislation to protect Negroes and civil rights workers from imbalances of justice in the Deep South.

The essence of the question is how can the Federal Government, under existing political constitutional limitations, insure an objective trial in a racial case.

Some civil rights leaders advocate removing all civil rights trials to Federal courts. Others have begun to emphasize reform of juries, state and Federal. Many advocate both of these approaches along with several other refinements.

Hogan Directs Vote Workers

NEWARK — Ralph J. Hogan one of New Jersey's promising young Negroes in New Jersey labor circles last week was given further recognition and honor when he was appointed Coordinator of the Essex County U. A. W. (United Auto Workers) Election Day Workers.

His duties Tuesday, Election Day, saw him assign members of labor to districts throughout the county.

The workers were assigned in such manner as best served the interest of candidates endorsed by labor.

Mr. Hogan who is a Democratic County Committeeman of the Central ward lives at 63 Rose street. He is financial secretary-treasurer of Local 541, UAW; member of the Executive Board of the New Jersey Industrial Union Council, AFL-CIO. Hogan is also member of the Executive Board of New Jersey State Fair Practices Council, UAW.

Trade Training Center Opens

NEWARK — With the announcement last Saturday in Trenton that a training center for the unemployed will open this week it is hopeful that the Negro Community organizations, church and the staff of the Essex County Urban League will be responsible for continued registration of Negro youths in the training center.

The new center will be located in the former Newark State College building on Broadway and will concentrate on vocational training.

Psychological services and basic education classes will also be offered.

The center will be staffed by professional educators and vocational specialists.

Remodeling of the building will continue after the program begins.

Training will last from 6 to 52 weeks depending on the demands of the vocation.

John Radwan will serve as director of the center, which will be run jointly by the State Departments of Education and Labor.

The initial program of the center that opened will be a class of 20 trainees — 19 girls and one boy — in clerical skills. They will attend the center from 8 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. daily five days a week for 20 weeks.

Other programs that have been given top priority to begin soon are in the areas of retail sales,

Government Seeks Prisoner Training

WASHINGTON — Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz announced last Friday plans to study the possibility of establishing a comprehensive training and guidance program for prison inmates.

At Essex County Penitentiary in Caldwell where 75 per cent or more of the prison population are Negroes this training program should be welcomed. It will also be noted that the prison population at the county institution are mostly young men and could well fit into any comprehensive training and guidance program for prison inmates.

Common Language Seen For Africa

ACCRA, Ghana (Africa) — A dream that Africa's multitude of tribal tongues will one day blend into a common African language that can be written and read by all Africans came nearer reality during the recent first West African Languages Congress.

The Congress held last week here in the thriving city was attended by more than 200 linguists and specialists in African languages from all over the world.

Ghana's minister of Education Kwaku Boateng called for a reduction of African oral literature to writings in a worthy form for study in Africa and their translation into foreign languages. The Congress has a fundamental role to play in this since without deep studies of African languages, there could be no worthy writing of the literatures contained in them, Boateng said.

Ghana is deeply concerned with the development of literacy and of education because on a percentage basis, Ghana's population is the most literate in Africa, Boateng explained. Ghana has built national unity by use of the English language and gained independence as an English-speaking nation, but literacy in a completely foreign language cannot be real mass literacy, the Minister of Education declared.

Ghana, for this reason, has set up a Bureau of Languages, to prepare literacy materials and readers in selected Ghanaian languages, Boateng said. He urged great care in the preparation of books which will be used by thousands of teachers and tens of thousands of students.

"Clearly there is a great need for cooperation between the linguists and those directly concerned with the development of literacy and of education," Boateng said.

He added that linguists can help in showing the most efficient ways to write languages that had not yet been written, or well written, and plan teaching programs as well as instruct teachers.

African governments, in planning for literacy and for education, were faced with the necessity of making delicate and difficult choices. Ghana believes in socialism, Boateng said, and is determined to afford her citizens their basic rights.

Congress delegates, he said, have a duty to unlock and popularize the vast treasures of the African personality and African culture throughout the continent and the world.

Will Urban League Qualify For Negro Employment Role

NEW YORK — The Ford Foundation last week announced a $366,000 grant to the National Urban League to initiate a nationwide program to assist Negro entrance into selected labor unions, primarily in special skill trades.

It is sure that Edward Andrade, chief negotiator for the Newark Coordinating Council will insist that the City of Newark prepare to qualify for union membership and to enlist the cooperation of local union leadership in accepting Negro applicants.

Beyond writing letters and interviewing such applicants who might find their way to the doors of the Jones street headquarters of the Essex County Urban League or posting notices or signs denoting hopeful job placements the agency is not known as a door of hope for Negro jobless.

It is hopeful that the Ford Foundation Grant will include enough funds to cover field investigators and workers who will seek out Negro youth to qualify for this great worker opportunity.

The announcement that several Negroes passed the much discussed Sheet Metal Workers aptitude tests came at a time when the Newark Coordinating Council made known last week that they were determined to keep up the fight for Negro job placement in Essex-Passaic Local 10, Sheet Metal Workers.

Oliver Bernhardt, supervisor of the Newark Apprenticeship Information Center, a division of the State Employment Service, said no racial records were kept but it was certain that at least four of the 24 who passed were Negroes.

The Sheet Metal Workers Local involved in the new constructions at both Newark-Rutgers University school of Law and the Newark College of Engineering were the subject of complaint of racial discrimination by the Newark Coordinating Council of which Mr. Andrea is its negotiator.

The program was developed in response to concern expressed by some union leaders at the slow pace of integration in parts of organized labor. It will operate under and with the assistance of the League's Trade Union Advisory Council, which is composed mainly of prominent labor officials and representatives of government and business. The grant will enable the League to recruit staff for its national and regional offices, to organize and coordinate local action programs.

These in turn will include information and interpretation within the Negro community about job prospects and membership requirements in organized trades, contacts with local union authorities, recruitment of prospects for and coordination of pre-apprenticeship and other training programs for Negro youths, and job placement activities. The funds will cover a three-year period, after which the League hopes to be able to support the program through its regular budget.

Central Ward Homes To Get Renair Funds

NEWARK — After residents of Newark's Central Ward have stood by for many months without hope and means of protest and watched the destruction of homes and saw the land lay bare, the news of a $366,000 rehabilitation project comes without community comment or elation.

The citizens of the Ward have seen hundreds who were cleared from the slum sections around the Washington street area of West Kinney street pushed into the over-crowded ghetto rat infested houses of the Ward without benefit of new construction.

There are 4,803 tenants in the specified block areas comprising: Two blocks surrounded by 15th, 16th and Fairmount avenues and S. 6th street.

Three blocks bounded generally by 15th and 16th avenues and S. 10th and S. 13th streets.

Three blocks in the area of 15th and Littleton avenues and Jacob street.

Five blocks bounded by Magnolia, Bergen and Rose streets and 18th avenue.

Of the 452 residential structures in the project area, 88 of them are occupied by the owners, according to the application.

King said a home improvement consultant has estimated that the average cost of bringing structures up to housing code standards would be about $1,400.

The average cost of rehabilitation to insure against code violations for at least the next 10 years — to bring some aesthetic value to the neighborhood — would be about $5,000, according to the application.

How do the Chinese quench a dragon's thirst?

Soo Dhu, the ceremonial New Year's dragon, has every reason to be thirsty. He's been dancing up and down Mott and Pell and Doyer Streets and all through Chinatown, bringing in good fortune and prosperity, scaring away evil, and collecting red envelopes of good-luck money for charity.

Not only is Soo Dhu thirsty—he's double-thirsty. Sam Lee is his front half, and Jimmy Sun is bringing up the rear. They've been perfectly coordinated all the way, and when

Nancy Fong asks them if they'd like a Rheingold, they answer as one dragon, "Yes!"

Which isn't at all surprising. Any smart dragon knows there must be some reason why more people in New York City buy more Rheingold Extra Dry than any other beer.

What's the reason?

We don't know. But we must be doing something right. Bottoms up, Soo Dhu! Rheingold

How to avoid an argument on where to go on a honeymoon... how to pack for a man without "corrugating" his suits... how to avoid the wrath of the newlywed husband who has to keep track of all the luggage...

These are some of the fine points in the art of a wedding trip discussed in a 32-page Honeymooners' Handbook published by Pan American Airways.

A practical guide for modern newlyweds, the Pan Am booklet provides facts on honeymooning in Europe, island hopping in the Caribbean and escaping to the South Pacific, the Orient, or South America.

In discussing the "where" problem of honeymoon planning, the handbook advises:

"The decision must be mutual — possibly one of your first experiences of bowing to your partner's wishes. If he dislikes the beach and you don't care for city sightseeing, make a happy compromise. Go to a lovely Alpine resort!"

The handbook is designed for honeymooners with varying budgets — in regard to both money and time. The travel information covers brief, economy-planned trips as well as round-the-world tours provided by "rich uncles." It is pointed out that often the over-all expenses of a far-away honeymoon are no greater than the costs of a trip to a nearby resort.

Written to help the bridegroom as well as the bride, the booklet features a useful checklist of items to attend to before the rush of the wedding day — information on travel and hotel reservations, passports and visa applications, birth certificates, vaccination forms, international driver's licenses, traveler's checks, insurance, letters of introduction, shopping and dining.

Several pages of the new handbook are devoted to a suggested wardrobe for a two-week to two-month honeymoon — for both Mr. and Mrs. Typical bits of advice are these: "There are beauty shops throughout the

Ghana President Hits U.S. Agencies

ACCRA, Ghana — The militant American educated Kwame Nkrumah, President of the progressive nation of Africa, last week saw released a book penned by himself, direct a bitter and sweeping attack on all overseas agencies of the United States Government.

Included in his indictment are the Peace Corps, the United States Information Agency, American aid programs and the Central Intelligence Agency, as well as the International Monetary Fund, which is supported by the United States.

The attacks are detailed in Mr. Nkrumah's latest book "Neocolonialism — the Last Stage of Imperialism."

The book, published in London by Thomas Nelson & Sons, was distributed here at the time of the summit conference of the Organization of African Unity that ended Tuesday, October 26. Diplomatic observers noted that many of the denunciations in the book have appeared in Mr. Nkrumah's party press. But it is the first time these indictments of the United States have come from the President's own pen.

Called Subtle But Insidious To Mr. Nkrumah imperialism is no longer a major threat. It has been replaced by "neocolonialism," which is defined as a subtle but insidious campaign of the former imperialist powers to continue controlling the economic and political destinies of now-independent territories.

Washington is seen as "the citadel of neocolonialism." Most of the book is an effort to show how United States capital has become the dominant financial force in Africa in collusion with British, French and Belgian interests.

It reflects the classical Marxist — that is, conspiratorial — view of history in which such public figures as Sargent Shriver, the Peace Corps director, are pictured as secret operatives in a vast intelligence apparatus.

This view was obviously reinforced by Mr. Nkrumah's reading of "The Invisible Government," a recent best-seller by two American newsmen, David Wise and Thomas B. Ross, that is extensively quoted. The book deals with the C.I.A. and the National Security Agency.

Aid from the International Monetary Fund and other United States-backed financial organizations is described as a "neocolonialist trap."

This appeared highly ironic to observers here, for the President is currently seeking the Fund's help to finance Ghana's staggering debt payments.

Ghana was the first nation to request and receive members of the Peace Corps. A moderate-sized contingent is teaching in secondary schools and surveying trip tips

by Ann Jackson

How to avoid an argument on where to go on a honeymoon . . . how to pack for a man without "corrugating" his suits . . . how to avoid the wrath of the newlywed husband who has to keep track of all the luggage . . .

These are some of the fine points in the art of a wedding trip discussed in a 32-page Honeymooners' Handbook published by Pan American Airways.

A practical guide for modern newlyweds, the Pan Am booklet provides facts on honeymooning in Europe, island hopping in the Caribbean and escaping to the South Pacific, the Orient, or South America.

In discussing the "where" problem of honeymoon planning, the handbook advises:

"The decision must be mutual — possibly one of your first experiences of bowing to your partner's wishes. If he dislikes the beach and you don't care for city sightseeing, make a happy compromise. Go to a lovely Alpine resort!"

The handbook is designed for honeymooners with varying budgets — in regard to both money and time. The travel information covers brief, economy-planned trips as well as round-the-world tours provided by "rich uncles." It is pointed out that often the over-all expenses of a far-away honeymoon are no greater than the costs of a trip to a nearby resort.

Written to help the bridegroom as well as the bride, the booklet features a useful checklist of items to attend to before the rush of the wedding day — information on travel and hotel reservations, passports and visa applications, birth certificates, vaccination forms, international driver's licenses, traveler's checks, insurance, letters of introduction, shopping and dining.

Several pages of the new handbook are devoted to a suggested wardrobe for a two-week to two-month honeymoon — for both Mr. and Mrs. Typical bits of advice are these: "There are beauty shops throughout the

Ghana President Hits U.S. Agencies

ACCRA, Ghana — The militant American educated Kwame Nkrumah, President of the progressive nation of Africa, last week saw released a book penned by himself, direct a bitter and sweeping attack on all overseas agencies of the United States Government.

Included in his indictment are the Peace Corps, the United States Information Agency, American aid programs and the Central Intelligence Agency, as well as the International Monetary Fund, which is supported by the United States.

The attacks are detailed in Mr. Nkrumah's latest book "Neocolonialism — the Last Stage of Imperialism."

It reflects the classical Marxist — that is, conspiratorial — view of history in which such public figures as Sargeant Shriver, the Peace Corps director, are pictured as secret operatives in a vast intelligence apparatus.

This view was obviously reinforced by Mr. Nkrumah's reading of "The Invisible Government," a recent best-seller by two American newsmen, David Wise and Thomas B. Ross, that is extensively quoted. The book deals with the C.I.A. and the National Security Agency.

Aid from the International Monetary Fund and other United States-backed financial organizations is described as a "neocolonialist trap."

This appeared highly ironic to observers here, for the President is currently seeking the Fund's help to finance Ghana's staggering debt payments.

Ghana was the first nation to request and receive members of the Peace Corps. A moderate-sized contingent is teaching in secondary schools and surveying mineral resources. The United States helped finance the construction of the now-completed Volta River dam.

Called Subtle But Insidious

To Mr. Nkrumah imperialism is no longer a major threat. It has been replaced by "neocolonialism," which is defined as a subtle but insidious campaign of the former imperialist powers to continue controlling the economic and political destinies of now-independent territories.

Washington is seen as "the citadel of neocolonialism." Most of the book is an effort to show how United States capital has become the dominant financial force in Africa in collusion with British, French and Belgian interests.

By virtue of the above stated writ of Execution, to me directed, I shall expose for sale by Public Vendue, in Room 204, Hall of Records, in Newark, on Tuesday, the Ninth day of November, next, at 1:30 p.m. (prevailing time) ALL that tract or parcel of land and premises hereinafter particularly described, situate, lying and being in the City of Newark, in the County of Essex and State of New Jersey.

JUST TWISTIN' 'ROUND. We cannot see the 1966 St. Louis Cardinal team as pennant contenders with their minor league infield. . . . The Boston Celtics are off to a sluggish start. We feel that they could be replaced by the Los Angeles Lakers as NBA kingpins. . . . If Leroy Ellis of the Los Angeles Lakers ever reaches a height of 7 feet he'll receive $1,000 from Lou Mohs, general manager of the Lakers. . . . The Philly 76ers have come up with the most dazzling traveling uniforms ever seen in the National Basketball Association—the tops are bright red and the plants are bright blue, and in between is a bright white stripe. . . . George Benton of Philadelphia is the forgotten boxer in middleweight ranks. Benton fairly oozes with ability—no one wants to meet him. . . . Sport fans attending the boxing show at the Sunnyside Gardens on Nov. 9th can have photos taken of them posing with the likes of Rocky Graziano, Joe Torres, Emil Griffith and Barney Ross. . . . Emil Griffith, the world's welterweight kingpin, figures to reverse the decision Manny Gonzales scored over him last March 30th when they collide in a title bout on Dec. 10th at the Madison Square Garden punch palace. . .

Denver Bronco fans are wild over Cookie Gilchrist's antics on the gridiron, they more than overshadow his antics off the field. . . . Bill Glass, Cleveland Brown defensive end feels his mates will repeat as National Football League because the Brown have a better defense, they recognize each other's faults and strengths and benefit from it. With Jimmy Brown still punchin' holes in the opposition's line we'll be tough to beat, says Glass. . . . Dave Strack, basketball coach at the University of Michigan says the fast break looks like a helter skelter affair to the casual fan but it is not. It takes lots of practice, says Strack. No team can employ it without good rebounding. The Wolverines could rate one-two in national ratings this season with Cazzie Russell, everybody's All-American the sparkplug. FOOTBALL SELECTIONS: In the National Football League: New York to surprise Washington, Cleveland to wallop Philadelphia, St. Louis will trounce Pittsburgh, Minnesota Vikings to take Los Angeles, Green Bay to edge Detroit, Dallas to thump San Francisco, Baltimore will trim Chicago. In the American Football League: Buffalo to take Boston, Oakland over Houston, Kansas City to whip New York, San Diego will nip Denver. In College Ranks: Cornell to defeat Brown, Dartmouth to trounce Columbia, Delaware to shade Buffalo, Pittsburgh over Duke, Georgia to trim Florida, Georgia Tech to hurdle Tennessee, Rutgers to jolt Lafayette, Michigan over Illinois, Michigan State to outplay Iowa, Navy over Maryland, Montclair State will edge Trenton State, Syracuse to hurdle Oregon State, Notre Dame will whip Pittsburgh, Princeton to outscore Harvard. The Purdue to defeat Wisconsin.

SPORT NOTES: Floyd Little seems a sure shot to qualify for All-American honors. The Syracuse University scabbard is as slippery as an eel. . . . Tommy Tibbs the veteran Boston, Mass. welterweight should retire before he becomes a human punching bag. Newark South Side High School appears to be the class of the local high school closed last week that the agency is about to start construction on a 2,000 unit for the Elderly.

The low rent public housing program will be composed of six sites, and should be completed by the summer or fall of 1967 according to Louis Danzing, executive director of the Authority.

The new units will be built on sites near existing public housing, and will also contain three-foot-wide doorways, four inches wider, to allow for passage of wheelchairs.

There also will be recreation, hobby and reading rooms in each building.

The 1,000 units in the southern end will be built in the area of Otto Kretschmer and Seth Boyden housing projects. One site, building generally by Virginia, Carrington and Ludlow Streets, will contain two 15-story and two 9-story buildings for a total of 400 units.

Another site at Dayton and Foster Streets near Frelinghuysen Avenue will contain two 15-story buildings and a nine-story structure for a total of 380 units, while the third, bounded generally by Frelinghuysen and Evergreen avenues and Rose Street will contain a 15-story building and a seven-story building, with a total of 200 units.

The other sites are located near Stephen D. Crane Village and Baxter Homes.

Powell Calls For Cuba Recognition

WASHINGTON — Harleim's and the nation's great Congressman A. Clayton Powell declared that the United States should resume diplomatic relations with Cuba, according to a published report titled, "Should the United States Recognize Communist Cuba?" The opposing view was taken by Representative Armistead I. Selden (D, Ala.).

"Chopping off recognition of Cuba doesn't remove the cancer of world communism or the threat of communism in the Western Hemisphere," wrote Powell.

Discussing the contemporary validity of the Monroe Doctrine in the current Cuba situation, Powell wrote:

"In today's world, shrunken by global military alliances, nuclear power, gunboat diplomacy, and the new togetherness of the Organization of American States, the Monroe Doctrine is little more than a nationally-cherished antique."

"The United States should resume diplomatic relations with Cuba if only because we maintain diplomatic ties with the communist dictatorships of the Soviet Union, Yugoslavia, Hungary and Rumania, the tyrannies of Spain and Portugal and the race-hating despotism of South Africa."

The Harleim Congressman noted that "the question of renewing diplomatic ties with Cuba must be submitted by two large questions:

"(1) Should the U. S. maintain diplomatic relations with any communist or communist-controlled government?

"(2) How operative in today's world of 1965 power realities is an 1823 doctrine?"

"To answer the first question, we do. Our recognition of and diplomatic relations with several communist tyrannies is a fact of our foreign affairs."

"The second question is answered by the passage of time and the swift change in power relations between nations. The Monroe Doctrine is outmoded."

Representative Powell summed up the situation by declaring:

"In the final analysis, the problem lies in what the distinguished chairman of the U. S. Foreign Relations Committee, J. William Fulbright, once termed our 'excessive moralism which binds us to old myths and blinds us to new realities.'"

"It lies in the history of our shoddy, white supremacy-oriented, paternalistic policies toward Latin America, with our loving support of any swaggering South American dictator ruthlessly murdering his own people, which we condone so long as he was anti-communist."

"Chopping off recognition of Cuba doesn't remove the cancer of world communism or the threat of communism in the Western Hemisphere."

"It only uncovers this festering malignancy with the weak and unrealistic powder of our self-conceit."

said he believed it will be some time before power can be transferred.

"The British government... do not believe that in the present and divided condition of Rhodesia, majority rule can or should come today, or tomorrow," Mr. Wilson said. "A period of time is needed to remove the suspicions between race and race, time to show... that the maintenance of essential human rights will be paramount."

"The time required cannot be measured by the clock or calendar, but only by achievement," he said.

Why The Blow UCC — UCC

By GEORGE THOMPSON

Substituting for O. WILLIS BROWN, Editor

All men and women of Good Will must be Sickened and Horrified after reading a late report of a Council Committee of the City of Newark, which has come up with a finding that might mean the end of a phase of one of the Greatest Programs of all Times — THE ANTI-POVERTY PROGRAM designed to save the Denied, the Humiliated, the Beaten, the Discriminated 'ONES' among us, Namely the beloved Negro Citizens of the City of Newark.

The Newark City Council Committee headed by Newark City Councilman, Frank Addonizio, a member himself of an American minority group, in a statement Tuesday of this week said that it (The Newark City Council Committee investigating Newark's anti-poverty program) believes it UNCONSTITUTIONAL for the city to provide Funds to a Private Corporation such as the United Community Corporation which runs Newark's anti-poverty program.

This action to test the legality of providing funds for UCC programs is certainly a blow directed at the efforts of brilliant young Negro Cyril Tyson, executive director of UCC.

We may not know why others act or feel upset and disturbed, but we do know that it is not good or happy state of mind for him or her and they need our blessing, not our rejection. Our inner pledge to ourselves, "too be Christ Like."

Understanding increases in us as we deeply desire — understanding of others, and the most important, understanding of the meaning of the words, "God is love".

When a need for healing is brought to my attention, I remember the way in which Jesus spoke to those who came to Him for healing. I remember His positive words, His loving assurance, His belief in life as eternal

ECUMENICAL MOVEMENT THEME OF CITY-WIDE REFORMATION SUNDAY SERVICE

Protestants of the Greater Newark area last Sunday were in a witness to their historic faith. In observance of Reformation Sunday, worshippers attended a city-wide service at Second Presbyterian Church, Newark. Sponsored by the Greater Newark Council of Churches, the interdenominational service began at 4 p.m.

The ecumenical mission of the church was stressed by the guest speaker, Dr. Allen Geyer of the United Nations Church Center. His Reformation Sunday address was entitled "The Embassy of Christ," based on a text from II Corinthians, v. 5. Dr. Geyer will trace the relationship of the ecumenical movement to the world-wide search for peace.

Harrison McCracken, Second Presbyterian Church, welcomed the invocation. Rev. Paul N. Robinson, Thirteenth Avenue Presbyterian Church, read the responsive reading and Rev. Homer Tucker, Mt. Zion Methodist Church, will present the pastoral prayer.

John H. Phillips, executive secretary of the Greater Newark Council of Churches, introduced the guest speaker.
